To Whom it may concern:

...We commercially produce Bearded Dragons for the pet trade and can frequently be holding as many as 500 to 800 baby Bearded Dragons ...We view Nature Zone Bites as a good component in the varied diet that we offer our dragons. I have never seen this strong of a feeding response on any prepared diet before. They were clearly attracted to the food from the first offering. There was no coaxing or jiggling of the food necessary. We believe their growth rate is faster with subsequent death loss declining. There are factors that improve efficiency in our operation. I can recommend it with no hesitation.
